The Early Years of Brentwood High

The history of Brentwood High School is one of interest. The need for a high school was realized early in the history of the borough which was incorporated in 1915. Concerned parents wanted their children educated locally. Prior to the building of the high school, graduates of Brentwood's elementary schools attended various nearby city and borough high schools. These included Knoxville, Union, South Hills, Schenely and Carrick High Schools.

To meet the need for a secondary facility in Brentwood, the voters in the community passed a $250,000.00 bond issue at the November, 1930 election. Ground was broken for a new school in March 1931 — the midst of the great depression.

The previous year, 1930, the eighth grade students were not sent to neighboring high schools. Several rooms in the Elroy School building were used by a class consisting of seventy-eight pupils. Miss Dorothy Russell and Mr. Samuel E. McDonald were the first high school teachers. Mr. McDonald went on to become the first principal of Brentwood High when it opened.

In 1931, the enrollment reached two-hundred twenty and the students occupied two rooms in Elroy, one in Moore and three rooms in the Brentwood Christian Church. On February, 1932, Brentwood High School was ready for occupancy. By the fall of 1933, a complete school system of twelve grades was put in operation. The next spring the high school graduated the first class which consisted of ninety-six members. Since the class of 1934, Brentwood High School has graduated nearly eight-thousand students.

The 1982 Anthem staff had the privilege of meeting with Mr. Samuel McDonald in October, 1981 to interview him about the early history of Brentwood High. It is with great sadness that we must report that he passed away a few weeks later. His contribution to the writing of this history was invaluable.

Home economics was once located in the present nurse's office?

The men's faculty room in the old building was the original nurse's office?

The present gymnasium was built in 1959?

The old gymnasium was located in the wing now comprised of science, home economics, and the library?

The drafting room was the chemistry lab when the school first opened?

The auditorium originally had windows?

Visual communications and the band room were once the cafeteria?

When the school opened it had wooden windows and doors?

The present industrial materials area at one time contained a wood shop, drafting room and electronics lab?

The present guidance offices, Room 219 and the football office were the principal's office and the library when the school first opened?

After the completion of the various additions, Brentwood High School ended up with over a thousand steps.

THE FIRST SCHOOL BOARD — 1915

EARLY HISTORY OF THE BRENTWOOD SCHOOL DISTRICT

By
Charles H. Bracken

The first meeting of the Brentwood Borough School Board was held on November 17, 1915, consisting of William R. McShane, Herbert P. Malick, William J. Price, William J. Krauss and Clyde Hammond, (pictured above) who were previously appointed by the Court as the first School Board. The organization resulted, William R. McShane, President; Herbert P. Malick, Vice-President; William J. Price, Secretary; William J. Krauss, Treasurer; and C.H. Bracken, Solicitor.

Although the Board did not take actual charge of the school until the beginning of July, 1916, the time from their organization meeting up to July was a very busy one in trying to arrive at the figures to make an adjustment with the Baldwin Township School District.

The first teaching force of the Borough which took charge of the School the beginning of September, 1916, consisted of Mabel Moore, Martha Wolfe, Sarah McChesney, Wilda J. Cooke.

One of the first things that the Board determined, was that the Moore School would not for very long accommodate the growing community and they therefore looked around for a place to build a new school and on September 6th, 1916 they authorized the purchase of two and one-quarter acres of ground on East Francis Avenue upon which property the present Elroy Avenue School is built.

The first celebration in the Borough was held on the grounds surrounding the Moore School Building on Memorial Day, 1916, the principal event of which was a flag raising at two p.m.
